DURING THE DISCUSSION on the bidding and awarding of the city's insurance contract at the City Council level, a number of intriguing (to us anyway) phrases in insurance jargon were tossed around.

Particularly impressive to us was "umbrella coverage."

Not being a pro as far as insurance coverage is concerned, "umbrella" to us means sort of a canopy that opens up to protect one from the elements.

We suppose, after a fashion, that is what is meant by "umbrella coverage" in the city's insurance.

But it is all sort of vague. Apparently "umbrella coverage" insurancewise supposedly takes care of unusual situations that could arise, such as riots, etc., and are not spelled out in the regular policy.

It seems to us that it is a rather nebulous term and, from what we have gathered, the insurance people themselves are a little confused as to what the umbrella covers.

We also heard bandied about coverage for "errors and omissions."

Now that's another vague item that appears to be pretty general in scope.

If a certain eventuality is not covered specifically, then coverage for "errors and omissions" could be used to take care of it. We were really confused on that.

So why not leave everything out of the policy and call it "errors and omissions"?

Of course, it is not quite that simple.

In fact, we have found that the so-called "fine print" on insurance policies never is.

-0-

"WATERCRAFT EXCLUSION" was another term we heard used.

It seems one company offered coverage in this area and another firm did not.

In the wake of the disasters that have recently taken place in the delta area by flooding and on the east coast, watercraft coverage would appear to have merit.

But it is difficult to envision such an eventuality taking place in Campbell.

It is difficult to imagine the now well-controlled Los Gatos and San Tomas creeks going on a rampage and swirling through the streets of Campbell.

It was explained, however, that city personnel would be covered when they were guests on boat excursions outside Campbell.

They could be taking jaunts on the bay, around the delta or county reservoirs, for example.

And at one time, we recall, a couple of councilmen and the city manager were boat owners which, undoubtedly, could increase the risk.

We are not ridiculing such coverage because we recognize that there never seems to be such a thing as "complete coverage" and we agree that so-called "exclusions" should be held to a minimum.

And, although we would not care to be in a position to test it, we suppose it might be somewhat reassuring to know that if one's boat is sinking in the middle of the lake, there is no "watercraft exclusion," in the insurance policy.

At a time like that, however, we personally would prefer to have a good life preserver.

DURING THE HEARING that was held on the pros and cons of consolidation of Campbell's fire department with the county's Central Fire District, those present at the meeting, who were interested in making their positions known, were asked to fill out cards during intermission.

Those wishing to speak were asked to so specify on the cards.

Board hears how tax rates affect staffing of schools

Staffing of the school district under two different tax rates ($1.80 or $2.55) was explained to the trustees of Campbell Union (elementary) District last Thursday and, at the same meeting, concern was expressed over the lack of Mexican-American teachers in the district.

Under the $1.80 tax rate, a workable but undesirable plan for staffing the schools is possible, Fred Peterson, administrative assistant, reported to the trustees.

Under the $2.55 rate, Peterson added, although the education program still will have to be curtailed, good staffing is possible.

On July 25, the electorate of the district will vote on whether the $2.55 rate should be continued. Because of the defeat at the polls on February 29 of a 50-cent tax increase (from $2.55 to $3.05), the district's tax rate reverts to $1.80 on June 30.

However, if the voters give approval on July 25, the $2.55 rate will be continued and the preliminary budget that has been approved based on the $1.80 rate will be modified and the "dismissed" teachers will be rehired.

Peterson explained it has been necessary to project plans for staffing by using both rates and, in his oral report to the board, emphasized that the $1.80 rate necessitated the dismissal of 57 of the teaching personnel.

However, through resignations and transfers, that figure has been cut by 12, to 45. He also said that 19 non-certificated personnel had to be cut but because of resignations, etc., only five will have to be dismissed, mainly custodians.

Peterson added that under the $2.55 rate, not only will all the 45 on the list to be dismissed be rehired but there will also be 12 vacancies to be filled.

Peterson said that the average class sizes will have to be increased from 25.3 to 27.1 under the $2.55 rate or to 30.9 under the $1.80 levy.

He submitted that the intermediate grades would be particularly hard hit in this respect because of state formulas.

FEW MEXICAN-AMERICANS

In a related matter affecting staff personnel of the district, Mrs. Pat Nichols, of the League of Women Voters, at the board meeting expressed concern over the small percentage of Mexican-American (or those with Spanish surnames) now on the district staff.

In a follow-up letter from Mrs. Bobbie Fischler, president of the League of Women Voters in this area, it was suggested that the Campbell district attempt to widen the representation of minorities on the teaching staff, particularly those of Mexican ancestry and culture.

"A successful recruitment program, as openings occur, would provide minority children with models from their own culture at a young age when lifetime goals are being formed, and would provide majority children with experiences important for living in a multi-cultural world," Mrs. Fischler noted in her letter.

Peterson said that the district has attempted to employ qualified personnel from minority groups whenever they are available.

In a recent report of the district to the Office of Civil Rights, which listed the breakdown of ethnic groups, both as to enrollment and staffing, it was noted that 926 of the enrollment, or 8.3% of the total of 11,168, were listed with Spanish surnames. Only two teachers, out of 455, however, were listed in the same category.

The breakdown also revealed that there were 65 black students enrolled, with three black teachers. The breakdown shows 261 oriental students enrolled and 17 teachers.

The report also revealed that white students comprised 88½% of the enrollment and that 95% of the teachers were white.

Resignation gets okay

In a routine manner on the motion of Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, seconded by Mrs. Judy Ruscigno, the resignation of C.E. Bradley, business manager of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District since May 1, 1952, was accepted last Thursday by the trustees of the district.

The resignation is effective on December 30, 1972.

Bradley's resignation was one of five listed on the agenda, including Edward Cahill, maintenance man since 1966; Jennie Barton, food service substitute and two teachers, RoyLene Hill and Karen Langton.

More than 70 applications had been submitted to the district office by Friday, the deadline to file for the business manager position, for which a salary range is listed from $23,263 to $26,365.

Where does garbage can go?

If the garbage man has to travel more than 50 feet to pick up the trash cans at your house, it will cost the resident another 50-cents.

In a report by acting Fire Chief Gene Borden to the City Council on Monday night, it was explained that the agreement with the disposal firm calls for cans to be within 50 feet of the curb line.

The 50-cent fee will be levied, if the residents want their cans farther away than 50 feet.

The matter came to the Council's attention because of complaints that had been made by residents that their garbage was not being picked up. The disposal firm claimed, however, that in cases where the cans were more than 50 feet away, the cans would be tagged with red fluorescent stickers explaining why they were left.

Apparently the residents did not see the stickers.

Borden also said complaints had been registered because trash and garbage was being scattered during the pickup service. He said that Green Valley Disposal had taken steps to eliminate that problem.

He added, also, that the firm also plans to improve its contacts with the residents in the future.

In another report, Jerry Duncan, of the building department, gave a progress report on the conditions of the Jean Drive apartments.

BY 3-2 VOTE

Council rejects insurance bids

By a 3-2 vote, the City Council on Monday night rejected all bids for the city's insurance after an hour and a half of discussion involving opposing interpretation both as to the coverages offered and the specifications called for by the city.

As a result of the Council's action, insurance coverage for the city after July 1 will be continued on a monthly basis by the present carrier, James F. Smith & Co., representing Continental Insurance, until new bids are received and the contract awarded.

The insurance issue had been continued from the previous meeting when Geoffrey Whittaker, the city's finance director, had recommended that the contract be awarded to James F. Smith & Co., the present carrier, with a bid of $30,546.

Whittaker's report listed the two other bidders as McChesney & Webster, $32,570 and Agents Administration at $34,064.

FIRST SESSION

At the first session, (June 12), Pete Giorgianni, representing Agents Administration, suggested that there were some questions as to the interpretation of the specifications called for in the bidding and emphasized that coverage for riots was especially a controversial phase.

The Council deferred action at that time until Monday to allow more time to study the issue.

At Monday's meeting, Councilman Norm Paul called attention to the letter that had been submitted by Giorgianni charging that there were four areas in which the alleged low bidder did not meet the specifications and also claiming that the so-called "umbrella coverage" did not specify that riots were to be covered.

Paul directed his questions to City Attorney Bob Dempster for clarification.

Dempster called on James Smith, of the low bidding firm, to answer the charges.

Smith claimed, in his answers, that the points raised were not valid.

RECOURSES

Dempster explained that the Council had only two recourses, either accept the low bid as submitted or reject them all.

Councilman Dean Chamberlin challenged the charges that had been raised against the recommended low bidder. He said he felt all the bidders understood that riot coverage was required and, he added, that the low bidder had indicated also that if there ever was a conflict on interpretation the specifications would

Piazza gets signal job

Signalization of the intersection at Hacienda and Winchester, a long-pending city project, moved a step closer to realization on Monday night when Leo F. Piazza Paving Co. was awarded the contract for the job with a low bid of $123,732.55.

Five bids were received ranging to a high of $136,549. The engineer's estimate for the project was $151,869.05.

Approximately one-half of the money needed to fund the project will come from federal funds under the TOPICS program and action was needed by the Council on Monday night to meet the deadline for the federal subsidy.

The Council on Monday night also approved specifications that would authorize the public works department to advertise for an improved lighting program in the vicinity of Rosemary School.

CHANGE IN MEETING DATE

Lengthy, varied agenda faces Planning Commission on July 5

Faced with a lengthy agenda that ranges from a number of apartment complexes (totalling more than 600 units) to a scuba diving school and including zone change requests and approval of special signs, the Planning Commission will meet on Wednesday, July 5, instead of on Monday, July 3.

Because of the holiday situation, getting a quorum on Monday presented a problem, so the meeting was shifted to Wednesday.

Plans up for Planning Commission approval vary from a three-story office building at 700 W. Campbell (across from Riverside Plaza at the expressway submitted by Vanderson Construction Co. to an addition for the First Christian Church at 1975 Pollard Road.

The apartment complexes presented are many and varied:

Alfred Davis is seeking approval of plans for a 16-unit complex at 1335 W. Campbell while Lincoln Property Co. has plans for a 265-unit job at 265-275 N. Union Ave. on the Stojanovich property.

Byrnes & Errico have submitted plans for a 77-unit apartment at 481-501 Hacienda and Variant Investment Co. is seeking a variance from 34 feet to 25 feet for a 234-unit complex that is planned for southeast corner of Budd and San Tomas Expressway.

Bethel Church is on the agenda in a continued matter concerning the modified plans for a 130-unit apartment complex off El Patio that is planned mainly for senior citizens.

Federated Department Stores, through Gold Key Furniture, wants to locate five house trailers off Salmar for temporary offices until the huge furniture store now under construction is completed.

William Jones has submitted plans for a scuba diving and swim school with retail sales at 2110 Winchester Blvd.

On the agenda also is the commercial site plan submitted by Maurice Martin for 1062 E. Campbell Ave. The development is related to the new Bascom Ave. policy per-

Council approves budget, fire department changes

Modified by an overall net reduction of $6,640 from the budget submitted by City Manager Bob Stephens last month, the preliminary city budget for 1972-73 totalling $4,319,210 was approved by the City Council on Monday night.

At the same meeting, the Council approved new classifications for top officers of the Fire Department.

The minor modifications in the budget were made during the series of study sessions that were held by the Council. The budget submitted by Stephens called for $4,325,850, a 14.6% increase over last year.

Stephens suggests that the budget could be financed by the $1.89 tax rate that is now in effect which includes a 12-cent levy for furnishings for the city hall. The 12-cent tax will be used next year to complete the engineering wing.

Final adjustments in the preliminary budget will be made in August after the new property assessment figures are known and the ending balances firmed up.

City officials indicated that some priority items that were slashed may be put back in at that time and that there was a possibility that the tax rate could be lowered, if the fiscal conditions permit.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

The reassignment and new classifications in the fire department that were recommended by Stephens and approved by the Council, calls for the training officer and fire prevention officer under the present plan as battalion chiefs.

The plan eliminates the office of fire marshal and adds the position of administrative aide.

Stephens explained that because of the reassignment that the city would save $11,457 during the 1972-73 year. He added that an opening now exists for one battalion chief because of the resignation of Jim McMullen, fire training officer. McMullen has accepted the position of fire chief in Victorville, Calif.

Stephens said that it was hoped that the promotion to the battalion chief position would come from within the department but that it was important to fill the post as soon as possible.

PAY INCREASES

In a related matter to the budget, the city manager reported that "memorandums of understanding" had been executed by all three of the city employee groups, the Firefighters Union Local 1939, the Campbell Municipal Employees Association and the Local Operating Engineers Union.

The agreements were reached, he said, after lengthy negotiations had been conducted by a city management

Picturesque Campbell

Three tranquil and scenic views of Campbell Park, at Gilman and Campbell avenues, appear below.

Benches, lawns, shrubs, play equipment for kids make the city park one of the most attractive recreational spots (for its size) in the area.

In the picture on the lower right, the towers in the PruneYard can be seen in the background.

Oops! We almost forgot. The picture on the left is of property that is almost directly across the street from the city park. Efforts by the city to have the owner clean it up have, to date, proved fruitless.

New city policy

In cooperation with a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Holly Vollenweider, the Planning Commission has developed a "Bascom Avenue Policy" which, if approved by the City Council, offers an excellent guideline for commercial development on heavily-traveled Bascom.

The policy also gives residents a protection from indiscriminate commercial encroachment on the residential side streets off Bascom Ave.

We commend the Chamber of Commerce committee and the Planning Commission for this constructive effort in good planning and for attempting to solve a problem that could become increasingly more difficult as time goes on.

Modifications of the CofC recommendation were suggested and adopted by the Planning Commission which will be forwarded to the City Council.

The Planning Commission recommendation states:

"Commercial uses may be permitted for a general depth of 300 feet only when such developments front to Bascom Ave. and adhere to the following conditions:

1. Zone changes shall be made only when required to assure development within the framework of this policy statement and shall not be made when the evident purpose is for land speculation.

2. When existing buildings are to be removed and the property is to be redeveloped, the developer shall be encouraged to gather a large enough parcel of land to provide integration with other existing and proposed developments rather than redevelop small individual lots which have no relationship to surrounding properties.

3. Encouragement shall be given to architectural and landscaping design which achieves identification, unification, and enhances appearance. Every effort shall be made to design new developments so they will not detract from or cause deterioration of future or existing developments. The design of access shall be controlled so as to reduce traffic hazards and provide a free flow of traffic from street to abutting properties.

4. The Council and Planning Commission shall retain such controls as are considered necessary to properly guide development.

Obviously it is difficult to establish a policy or plan for future development of an area that already is in some stage of current development.

We mean, of course, that "starting from scratch", so to speak, in undeveloped areas in the establishment of planning policies presents less complicated problems, as a rule.

We concede, of course, that an undeveloped and isolated area such as the Amato property between Campbell and Latimer avenues would be an exception, mainly because it is a large parcel and concern over its future has been generated on many fronts.

However, it is still easier to present a workable development plan for such a parcel than it is in an area that has been developed for a long period of time without adequate buffers being provided between commercial and residential properties as in the case of Bascom.

Therefore, it was necessary to study the situation on Bascom Ave. from an entirely different viewpoint.

We maintain that without an actual existing "buffer" between any commercial and residential development, as in the case on Bascom, drawing an arbitrary line of x-number of feet deep off Bascom to designate the commercial area would not be the proper approach, because the situation varies up and down the street.

Therefore, we think the policy statement of "may be permitted for a general depth of 300 feet" is more logical than specifying "commercial uses shall be permitted", etc.

We also agree that specifying that commercial developments must "front to Bascom" is more specific than suggesting that the developments should be "oriented" to Bascom.

We think the policy as recommended by the Planning Commission will provide for an orderly development on the street. It also provides a safeguard for the residents who are concerned over the commercial encroachment down the side streets.

We were pleased also to note that the Planning Commission, after hammering out the policy, took immediate steps to implement it by proceeding with rezoning procedure on properties that would not comply with the policy intent.

We concede that we have no better crystal ball than the Planning Commission.

But we also submit that indiscriminate commercial zoning is not the panacea for planning problems that exist.

Developed or partially developed areas have special problems that must be looked at specifically.

We think the Bascom Avenue policy allows for that.

collected the cards and separated the would-be speakers into the pro and con categories.

He then called on the speakers alternately.

A "pro"-consolidation speaker was to be followed by a "con", etc.

In calling out the name of "con" speakers, John first admitted that he was not sure he was deciphering the signature correctly.

"TOM GIRTH", he announced, would be the next speaker against consolidation.

No one stirred.

AFTER REPEATING THE name allowing time for "Mr. Girth" to respond, Ruppel went on to the next name.

The City Council, as you know, at the close of the four-hour hearing voted unanimously to retain this city's own fire department rather than to consolidate the county's Central Fire District.

Therefore, we suppose that whatever "Tom Girth" would have said on the subject would have been academic anyway.

At the close of the meeting, it was discovered that there was just one person in the audience who had submitted a card but had not been called upon to speak on the subject by Ruppel.

And it was not ol' "Tom Girth."

It was Ben Gould.

A closer examination of the scrawling signature that John misinterpreted as "Tom Girth" could be deciphered in a number of ways.

Including that of Wm. H. Gould.

And that's whose signature it was.

HAVING BEEN EXPOSED to the game of golf for a number of years, we are often quite frustrated by our inability to master the sport.

We thoroughly enjoy the pastime and are always living in the hope that our game will improve.

Obviously there have been times when our so-called golf game has been so terrible, that we have given considerable thought to taking up another form of recreational activity.

Generally, however, just before we are about to make such a traumatic decision, we manage to hit the little white pellet the way it is supposed to be done.

That is termed the "come-back" ball.

One comes back the next time to see if you remember what you did right the last time you were on the course.

And then there is another point that deters us from giving it up and renews our hope.

That is when we see a person who is 15 to 20 years older than we are playing a smooth game that is so superior to our own hacking that we don't seem to be in the same league.

And, generally, we are not.

A case in point occurred just recently on the Oak Ridge course.

We were playing in a foursome which included Carl Field, a Campbell old-timer, who proudly boasts that he has passed his 74th birthday.

Carl proceeded to tear the course apart and he shot one of the best games our group has witnessed.

He went around in 77, which means to those of you who are unfamiliar with the game that he played the 18 holes only five over par.

We were all quite proud of his score and Carl, obviously, was pleased also.

But he was a little disappointed.

He maintained he would have liked to have shot his age which would have been a 74.

Shooting one's age on the golf course is quite an achievment. Chances are Carl is going to be doing it for a number of years to come.

But we have no such illusion.

That is, unless we reach the century mark in age mighty soon.

"CONSTANT READER", our ole buddy, is going to get a break for the next three issues.

"Constant", as well as some of the rest of you who read the trivia in this column from time to time, will be happy to know that three guest columnists have been "signed" to do the next three "limbs."

Jeanette Watson, long-time civic leader and active in this community's beautification program, takes over next week.

She will be followed by Councilman Rusty Hammer, the articulate 19-year-old city father, one of the youngest councilmen in the nation.

The third column will be turned out by Jim Hardy, president of West Valley College.

As usual, no restrictions have been placed on the guest columnists.

They have the floor. It's more fun thataway.

We are looking forward to their offerings.

Aren't you?

Have fun!

overrule the policy.

Whittaker maintained that the specifications that were drawn by his office were adequate and that his conclusion as to the low bidder was based on a breakdown of all phases of the coverage desired.

MOTION LOSES

Chamberlin then made the motion to award the contract to James F. Smith & Co., for the low bid of $30,546. It was seconded by Councilman Rusty Hammer.

Before making the motion, Chamberlin suggested that next time (three years hence when the policy expires), the city should have the services of an insurance consultant so that some of the problems would not arise.

An amendment by Councilman Ralph Doetsch to make that a part of the motion, however, failed because it would be committing a future Council. Doetsch then added that he could not favor the motion without the amendment.

On the vote, Councilman Doetsch and Mayor Bill Podgorsek voted against awarding the bid to James F. Smith & Co., with Chamberlin and Hammer favoring the award.

REJECT BIDS

On the next motion to reject all the bids made by Doetsch and seconded by Paul the 3-2 voting alignment was reversed with Hammer and Chamberlin opposing.

In another motion on the matter, to direct City Manager Bob Stephens to contact a consultant in preparing new specifications in the controversial areas, the alignment was the same with Hammer and Chamberlin in opposition.

The concluding motion for the evening made by Chamberlin to have the James F. Smith & Co., to continue the coverage of the city for 60-days or possibly longer, however, was carried without a dissenting vote.

Board nixes paving bid

Because one of the two bidders for paving of school yards did not include a bond with the bid and because the other bid exceeded the amount budgeted, the trustees last Thursday night rejected both of them.

The district has allocated $63,100 for the blacktopping. The bid of Bob-Bilt Roadways was $73,395. The other bidder was Bay Slurry Seal Company. But because a bond was not included, the bid was not recognized.

John Sidensol, of the Bob-Bilt Roadways, who was present at the meeting, vigorously expressed so much displeasure with the bidding procedure that Trustee Eleanor Graham-Armstrong was moved to caution him for his outburst.

team and representatives of the employee groups.

Stephens said that the "package" calls for a 3.4% increase for the employees plus a number of fringe benefits. He estimated that the increase would cost the city $68,630 for the 1972-73 fiscal year. The agreement covers a two-year period.

The recommended increases for the 16 so-called "management" personnel of the city will be submitted at the next meeting, Stephens added.

Present at the meeting Monday to voice appreciation of the sincere efforts to reach agreements were Mike Johnson, of the firefighters, Ron Cheek, of the CMEA, and a union official from San Jose for the operating engineers.

HUMAN RELATIONS

In another action Monday night, the City Council by a 3-2 vote approved the concept of the establishment of a countywide Commission on Human Relations but specified in a separate motion that before the supervisors adopt the ordinance that it be referred to the cities for study on controversial points.

Councilman Dean Chamberlin and Mayor Bill Podgorsek opposed the endorsement of the concept. Chamberlin said that, in his opinion, the proposed functions eliminated some of the authority of the City Council in the field.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Council also, at the request of Mrs. Irma Reese, director of the West Valley Senior Center in Campbell, agreed to ask the Economic Social Opportunity board to repeal its decision which eliminated funding for the local center. The ESO has ruled that the $19,000 that was allocated the senior citizen center would be cut off. Mrs. Reese said the action would greatly curtail their services to the community.

Several councilmen indicated they would appear personally to make an appeal for the refunding.

The Council also appointed Councilman Norm Paul to the newly formed Santa Clara County Transit District with Councilman Ralph Doetsch as alternate.

Zone changes on the agenda include that of James H. Thomas (from R-1 to R-D) at 72 N. Third; Eric Bracher (from R-1 to R-D) at 1766 White Oaks; and Dorothy Morante (R-2-S and R-3-S to C-1-S) at 1409 W. Campbell Ave. just east of Sambo's.

Two sign requests have also been referred to the Planning Commission by Art Kee, planning director.

"Bonanza" wants to change its sign in the Hamilton Plaza and Fred Sahadi on behalf of the PruneYard is seeking approval of a 50-foot free-standing identification sign that will be located at the northwest corner of the PruneYard.

County reminds taxpayers

Any County real estate property tax bills for 1971-1972 which have not been paid are now delinquent, warns Edward N. Glaeser, County finance director. This means a six percent penalty.

Any taxes not paid before June 30 will carry more penalties, he advised.

Technically, property will be sold to the State on that date, if taxes are not paid, Glaeser said. What this really means is a stiff one percent per month penalty plus added costs to the delinquent taxpayers.

Property is not deeded to the State for five years, but penalties continue to accrue until paid.

Notices of delinquent taxes were recently mailed, said Glaeser, but property owners in doubt are asked to telephone the County Tax Collector at 299-2241. Glaeser stressed that non-receipt of a tax statement does not excuse late payments.

HEADS

Almost all Easter Island adults have long heads that taper to narrow jaws.

Board approves ponds use for recreation

Public recreational use of County Flood Control and Water District percolation ponds has been approved by the district's Board of Directors.

Directors unanimously adopted a resolution favoring development and maintenance of recreation facilities at groundwater recharge ponds by "appropriate public agencies." These include city and County park departments.

The action was taken after County voters approved a park acquisition and development program in the June 6 election.

Percolation ponds, which are scattered around the County, will serve as aesthetic backgrounds for adjacent parks and for passive uses such as fishing, model boating, or even sailing and rafting.

The ponds allow water to penetrate through gravel and sand into the Valley's vast underground water basin for later use.

The new District policy specifically prohibits certain activities which would adversely affect water quality or cause erosion of pond banks.

These include wading and swimming, motorboating, and the operation of motor vehicles on or near side slopes of the ponds.

Though the District will share some maintenance costs and responsibilities, water revenues will not be used for on-shore facilities, fish stocking and replacement, public liability insurance, policing and supervision.

DENIED

A request by the Creative Initiative Foundation that the city waive the city license fees for a rummage sale the organization plans to hold on July 15-16 was denied by the City Council Monday night.

A written request had been submitted by Jim D. Morelan, of 2235 Middleton Drive, and Irby Ames, of 1438 Ridgeley Drive, was spokesman before the Council.

The sale is planned on 850 W. Hamilton adjacent to Fry's Market.

The denial was based on lack of information the Council had on the organization.

ANSWERS CRITIC

Dear Editor:

We regret that Charles Runner has felt it necessary to identify himself (Campbell Press, June 21) as one of those who opposed the district tax rate proposal in the recent election.

We regret further his attempt to assuage his obvious guilt as a result of his anti-social action by his intemperate attack on teacher organization officers. We sincerely wish his personal catharsis could assure a more rational and productive form.

It was not necessary for Mr. Runner to provide such vehement endorsement of one of the principal theses of our "analysis" of the election failure (Campbell Press, June 14). In four of his five paragraphs he cites the district's "politics" as the primary reason for the defeat of the election. We saw this as only ONE of the reasons why some citizens voted against an adequate tax rate.

It is Mr. Runner who "insults the entire community", by suggesting that the dominant reason citizens voted against proper education for children was displeasure with two teacher organization officers.

We can in no way subscribe to this gross indictment of the citizens of CUSD. That this was the basis upon which Mr. Runner opposed adequate funds for the education of our youth is abundantly clear from his writing. Let him then not attribute his own misguided reasoning to the entire citizenry.

The position of the teachers' Union has at all times been one of upgrading the profession and improving the educational program.

Our children, our youth, are the most important resource of our community and our nation. Their full potential as contributing citizens and as happy, self-fulfilled human beings can seldom be realized without adequate education. Only through adequately paid teachers, teaching in uncrowded classrooms, properly supplied and provided with all necessary support services, can this be achieved.

Our commitment is not to you, Mr. Runner, not to the Chamber of Commerce, not to the citizen-voter. Our commitment is to the children we teach!

May we urge that you turn your creative talents in a positive direction; that you save your invective for those who would deny our children their future, that you urge your fellow citizens to support next month's inadequate but necessary tax rate election and that you join in our demand for an election next year which will provide funds to properly educate CUSD children.

Letters to the Editor

ASKS HELP

Dear Editor:

Campbell Artist's Guild executive board met at the home of Claudia Tillman, secretary, in San Jose, on June 13 for the last meeting until September.

An item came up for discussion which should be of great interest to the artist community, in general, when Loretta Ostrom, president, called on Jackie Flitcraft to advise the board about legislation affecting the country's artists.

At this time, the Internal Revenue Service may tax, at full market value, all works left to an artist's heirs at his death, while, when donating his work to a museum or benefit, the artist is allowed to deduct from his taxable income, only the "value of the materials."

There are at present, two bills to remedy this situation pending before the House Ways and Means Committee, but with no foreseeable action to bring it to the floor.

Under present I.R.S. regulations, at an artist's death, all paintings, sculptures, etc., in his possession will be assessed for tax purposes, at the highest market value earned by comparable works, of the artist, during his lifetime, thus creating undue hardship on his family.

A case in point cited by the National Sculptor magazine is that of Sculptor David Smith who died in 1965, leaving 425 pieces of sculpture. He had gained scant recognition, but had made recent sales, at decent prices, which set the "full market value" tax scale, and his estate was taxed $2.44 million.

Only Congress can correct this grave injustice, and the voters must make their wishes known. Campbell Artist's Guild would like to enlist public assistance in correcting this matter, and would urge anyone interested, to write and address letters to:

Hon. Charles Gubser (10th Congressional Area); House of Representatives, U.S.; Washington, D.C. 20515; Bill No. H.R. 9103; also Bill No. H.R. 230, sec. 312.

Submitted, with thanks

AIR POLLUTION

Dear Editor:

The people of our country are faced with an overwhelming problem of air pollution. Because the United States is a number one industrial nation we continue to build more factories to keep up our status. These factories pour out industrial fumes which we have to breathe.

We the people of the Santa Clara Valley have it worse than people in a lot of places because winds blowing in from the bay carry the smog from San Francisco, Oakland, and Marin county and it is trapped in our mountains. It gets so bad down here that on most days you can't see the mountains only five miles away.

The other main cause of pollution (besides factories) is cars. American people are always on the move and they want to travel in luxury so the factories produce bigger and better cars that use up more gas and pour out more fumes in the air.

But now with rapid transit systems like B.A.R.T. coming out more people will be using their cars less. Also the factories are being made to put smog control devices on the new cars.

But there have been improvements such as pamphlets being made to inform the people of this problem and what they can do about it.

By going down to your local public information center you can get some pamphlets called "air pollution and the San Francisco Bay Area," and "What Can I Do To Prevent Air Pollution Emergencies" and "We Don't Want To Scare You But..."

Also if you write to 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco 94109 or phone area code (415) 771-6000 you can get a pamphlet called "What You Can Do About Air Pollution."

When you look outside and you see that it's too smoggy you can call in complaints by dialing a district inspector at 771-6000. He will be there between the hours of 8:30 and 5:00 on weekends.

You can go down to the library and get a book called "The Users Guide To The Protection of the Environment" by Paul Swatek. This is a book about all the things you do to cause pollution and what you can do instead.

These are just little steps but they are making this world a better place to live.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles Knowdell, Kelly & Christopher

West Valley student is MS Father of Year

A West Valley College student who attends his classes in a wheelchair, has been named M.S. Father of the Year by the Santa Clara County Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Charles (Chuck) Knowdell, 38, is taking vocational training at West Valley College as part of the California State Rehabilitation Program. He lives in West San Jose with his ot the California State Rehabilitation Program. He lives in West San Jose with his wife, Ginger, and their two children, Christopher, 5, and Kelly, 3.

Knowdell was born in San Francisco and has lived his entire life in the bay area, the last five years in San Jose. He was employed at Ampex in Redwood City for 12½ years. When his first signs of MS, a definite limp, came three and one-half years ago, he thought it might be a belated reaction to an industrial accident that had injured his left leg and back some years earlier.

Then he found he could not run and he started having numbness in his legs. Two years ago the doctors diagnosed his trouble as MS.

Since his electronics work kept him on his feet most of the day, he was transferred to a sitting job, but had to give up this type of work entirely in January 1971.

Today Knowdell must still sit to work but in a wheelchair. His legs tire easily and his balance is poor, so the little walking he does is with the use of Canadian crutches.

With this in mind, and the fact that he "likes working with people", he started courses at West Valley to train himself for a new vocation in personnel work.

He attends classes at the Saratoga campus, where he finds he has very little trouble going from class to class in a wheelchair. "Occasionally I do have a problem with the hills," Knowdell said, "but the other students are great, and there is always someone wanting to help me."

Knowdell drives his own car, a Volkswagen, equipped with hand controls, one of the few "concessions" he has made to his disability. He has made only a few others at home: a bench and a grab bar in the shower; a low mirror so he can shave sitting down; a roll up, instead of a swing, garage door so he can operate it from a wheelchair, and he is planning on installing a grab bar in the garage to enable him to swing himself up the two steps from the garage to the kitchen.

He is able to do a little walking around his home unassisted, "but it's hard on the walls," he commented. He uses Canadian crutches some at home and in the yard and any place that he must stand or climb stairs.

He works at the local MS office one day a week as part of a Sociology class that allows each student to attend class two days per week and spend one day doing volunteer work for the agency of his choice. "The primary reason for local chapters is patient service," he emphasized. "They not only provide information and equipment, but they have meetings and social activities for people with MS."

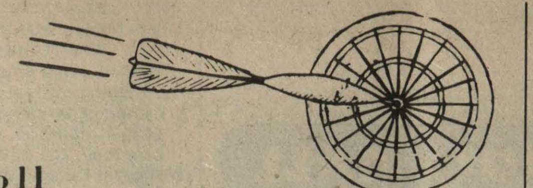
DARTING AROUND



with Tom Carroll

Two area teams won their divisional matches and go on to the finals in the Northern California Darts Assn. Championships. Scarlet LaRue's I of Los Gatos after taking their fourth straight league title went on to win their third straight divisional.

The East Bay "A" division match was played at the Courtyard in Hayward. The three-way round robin saw the LaRue's squeeze ahead by only one game. The LaRue's won 13 games while the Halfway Club I took 12 games and the Gay 90's III finished with 11 wins. The LaRue's will now play Two Flags I of Novato for the Association title and the Falstaff Cup.

"B" DIVISION

The "B" division was a little more complicated as there are nine "B" division teams. The Association ran three divisional playoffs so that the final match will be a three-way round robin for the title. Teams that will compete are the Ben Jonson in San Francisco, Gay 90's II from Pleasant Hill and Banbury Clock I from San Jose.

The playoff at the Scarlet LaRue saw a perfectly even first round. Each of the three teams, Banbury Clock I, Winchester St. Congregation II and Gay 90's VII, won six games.

The second round was a little different. The Clock took the Gay 90's, 4-2. The 90's bounced back and took the Congregation 4-2. If the Congregation had beaten the Clock 4-2 it would have been another three-way tie. The Clock only needed to win three games to take the title. This they did in three straight. The last three games weren't played. As it was the match ran six hours.

LADIES SINGLES

Fourteen gals showed up at the Primrose Lanes for the Ladies Singles. This was the poorest attendance for any of the Ladies Singles. Even though the field was small the gals shot some heads up darts.

Dyanne Albers shot the high scores for the afternoon with a 135 in one match and a 133 in another. Former Ladies Champ Bobbie Lindsay shot a 115 and a 105. The high out for the afternoon was shot by Paulie Wetherbee, a two dart 59-out (19,double 20). Paulie was also socking them in when she shot an 88 and followed it with an 85.

The match for the title saw Bobbie Lindsay compete with Karen White of the Gay 90's VII. Karen took the first game with Bobbie taking the second. The third game and the title went to Karen when Bobbie started to speed up her shooting.

Pony League starts playoffs Tuesday

Campbell Pony League winds up its 112-game regular season schedule Saturday with four games, but the climactic league playoffs are still to be staged.

The four teams with the best season records will launch the championship playoffs Tuesday, July 4 with a double-header.

The team with the best record will play the team with the third best record at 11 a.m., while the other two teams lock horns at 2 p.m. The losers play Wednesday and the winners on Thursday. Additional games are scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

At this writing, three teams are assured of playoff berths—the Fontanetti Cardinals, Food Fair Mets and JJ&R Yankees. The Campbell Marine A's and Gagliardi Dodgers were fighting it out for the fourth spot.

This Saturday's final season schedule has the Yankees and A's battling at 9:30 a.m.; Giants and Mets at noon; Tigers and Dodgers at 2:30 p.m., and Cubs and Cards at 5 p.m.

All games will be played on the Rincon Park field near San Tomas Expressway.

Admission charges to the playoff games will be 75-cents for adults, 25-cents for students 7 to 14 and 6 and under free. Family plan tickets, admitting all family members to the playoff games are available at the field for $3.

Two baseball leagues join for picnic

Co-sponsored by the Campbell Little League and the Campbell-Moreland Pony League, a family picnic will be held Sunday, July 9, at Uvas Meadows.

Families of the players in both organizations are invited to participate in the day-long program of swimming, games and picnicing.

Programs have been organized to accommodate all age groups, and families may arrive at the camping area as early as they wish. Cost is minimal--even less for youngsters. No preregistration is necessary.

Chairman of the affair is George Gioia of the Campbell Little League, and Vince Echevarria is the Pony League representative.

NEW MEMBERS---New members of the Southwest YMCA Board of Managers (left to right), Dr. Robert King, Robert Bullard and Mrs. Courtland L. Watson, all of Campbell, review the Y's program manual following the installation at recent ceremonies, held at branch headquarters, 16500 Mozart Ave., Los Gatos. The Southwest YMCA serves the youth of Campbell, Cambrian, Los Gatos, Saratoga, Monte Sereno and West San Jose.

POSTER CHILD -- Charlena Joyce Holderby is given a certificate designating her as the 1973 poster child of the Santa Clara County Epilepsy Society. Dr. John Krvavica, president of the society, makes the presentation.

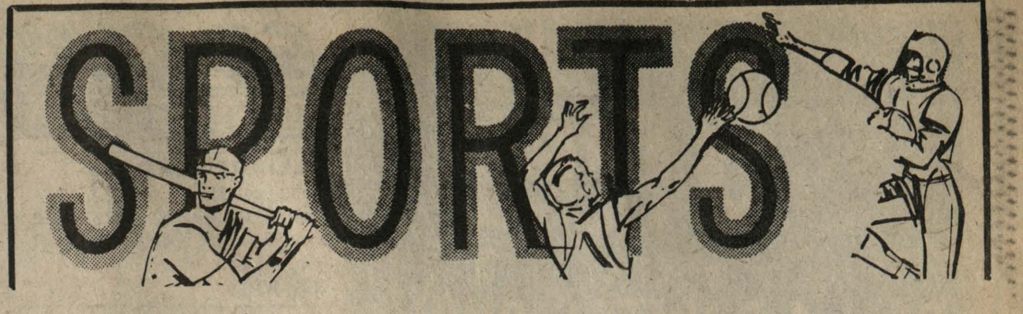
Poster child is local girl

Charlena Joyce Holderby of Campbell has been chosen as the Santa Clara County Epilepsy Society's 1973 poster child.

Char Jo, who attends Country Lane School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. J. Holderby of 2140 Orestes Way.

Char Jo was chosen to illustrate that those with epilepsy can and do lead normal lives. She will be entered in the national poster child competition of the Epilepsy Foundation of America, which will be announced in October.

Dr. John Krvavica, a Campbell dentist, is president of the Santa Clara County Epilepsy Society.



SPORTS

Youths collect for Olympics

A contribution from you might help send a Campbell youth to Munich to watch our Olympic team.

For the next month, boys and girls from ages 10 to 16 will be soliciting funds as part of the U.S. Olympic Fund-Drive Month. You might see them with their arm bands and canisters at gas stations and parking lots, shopping centers, hotels, motels, outside department stores, bus stations and airports.

All contributions are tax deductible and go to the United States Olympic Committee.

The three youths who raise the most money in the nation will win a trip which will take them to Washington D.C., Athens, and finally to Munich.

Approximately 100 Campbell youths will be participating in the program which is sponsored by Red Barn Restaurant.

Wayne Douglas Peyton of Campbell and Patricia Marie Vincent of San Jose were wedded at the First United Methodist Church in Los Gatos.

The bride, a San Jose State University junior, chose an empire style wedding gown with a full silk organza skirt and a train of a soft candlelight shade. The bodice was of Alencon lace with a wedding band neckline, outlined in delicate daisies.

The bridal bouquet was of violet phalaenopsis with yellow baby roses and baby's breath.

The bride's Miss Pricilla of Boston headpiece was a crown of silk completely circled with Alencon flowers. She wore an elbow length illusion veil.

Pastor Ralph York officiated over the double-ring ceremony.

The parents of both bride and groom were present for the nuptials. Mr. and Mrs. Ogden V. Vincent, parents of the bride, came up from Anaheim for the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin W. Peyton of Campbell were also present.

The bride wore a gown of silk organza, with an empire waistline and an A-line skirt. The gown had a victorian neckline with sleeves accented by small ruffles at the wrist.

Appliques of chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls covered the dress. A full mantilla veil of lace and illusion formed the chapel train.

She carried a cascading bouquet of roses, carnations and snapdragons.

Maid of honor was Heidi Lark Heath, sister of the bride, who wore a deep spring green chiffon gown with a bouquet of white and green carnations.

The bridesmaids were Paula Brown, sister of the groom, Lil Hunter and Aileen Brown.

The Rev. Phil W. Barrett, D.D. served as best man. The ushers were Roger M. Heath, brother of the bride, Mike Culcasi and Steve Slocum.

Reverend William A. Walmsby conducted the afternoon wedding. Mrs. Ruth Bressem Payette provided the organ music. Mr. Lyle Richardson, M.A., was the vocalist.

In attendance at the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Harrison F. Heath and Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor.

The reception, attended by 300 people, was held on the patio at the Los Gatos Lodge.

The groom, a 1968 graduate in marketing and economics from the University of Santa Clara, is an assistant manager at Larry Hopkins Pontiac.

The bride, who graduated in 1971 from Camden High School, attends San Jose State University and is planning to attend Foothill College next fall.
